

Good Choices

ORIENTAL

(Chinese, Japanese, Thai)

- steamed dishes
- stir-fried dishes
- vegetable or combination vegetable-meat dishes

ITALIAN

- lean veal, chicken, or fish
- tomato-based sauces on pasta
- vegetable-based soups

MEXICAN

- grilled meat and vegetable dishes, like fajitas
- tostadas
- rice, beans

Circle healthy foods from the following menu:

1. fried fish
2. baked fish
3. steamed zucchini
4. buttered carrots
5. sliced tomatoes
6. fried vegetable sticks
7. potato salad
8. garden vegetable salad
9. seasonal fresh fruit
10. chocolate cake

Turn this page upside down to see the correct answers.

Answers: 2, 3, 5, 8, 9

ML#002056 MAC 11/00

Developed by OPHN Nutrition Materials Review Committee

Choosing Healthy Meals When Eating Out:

Tips For Dining Light

Americans eat many meals away from home. Use these tips to eat healthy when dining out.

Reading the Menu

Look for these words on the menu as hints to a low-fat choice:

- broiled
- grilled
- roasted
- steamed
- poached
- baked
- stir-fried
- garden fresh

Choosing Foods

These are healthy choices:

- fresh, raw or steamed vegetables
- salads with dressing on the side
- whole-grain breads, crackers, muffins
- child-sized or half portions (if smaller portions are not available, take the rest home or share an entree with your dinner partner)
- desserts with less fat such as fresh fruit, sorbets, angel food cake
- broiled, grilled, baked, or steamed meat, poultry and fish

Ordering Foods

Here are some hints:

- ask questions
- insist on having food prepared the way that you want it
- ask for another food to replace the one offered
- order child-sized portions
- share with a friend
- take leftovers home

